Classic Towns of Greater Philadelphia is an initiative of the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission (DVRPC) designed to foster the growth of the region’s older communities by promoting what makes each community a wonderful place to live, work, and play.

Explore Woodbury and the other Classic Towns of Greater Philadelphia at ClassicTowns.org
Homes & Community
The housing stock of Woodbury is classic, diverse, and full of character. The community is a great place if you prefer walking or biking along pleasant tree-lined streets to your local shopping district, restaurants, medical, and legal offices. Living in the area is affordable while still offering access to all the big-city features and flare of nearby Philadelphia, Atlantic City, and the Jersey Shore.

Business & Economy
You can find an abundance of delicious food options on Broad Street where diverse retailers provide the community with unique and desirable gifts and goods. Woodbury’s government is business friendly and progressive, while the population density all make for great reasons why new people would want to set up shop in town.

Activities & Destinations
Finding a public park to relax or play in is extremely easy in Woodbury and each offers different local events, activities, and lovely scenery. A packed event calendar includes the fall festival parade, 4th of July fireworks, ghost tours, Santa Claus parade, and car shows. The Woodbury Library is one of the area’s best-kept secrets as it offers interactive and affordable activities for all ages.

In 1980, Woodbury became the first city in the United States to mandate recycling.

Woodbury takes pride in being a diverse, welcoming community.