Context: Indego Basics

• Launched April 23, 2015;
• System owned by City of Philadelphia, operated by Bicycle Transit Systems;
• 73 stations, 700 bikes;
• 19 stations located in Census blocks where majority of households live at or below poverty line;
• Expansion in spring 2016
Context: City Goals for Program

1. Provide a new, affordable, convenient option for moving around the city for transportation, fitness, and fun.

2. Improve access to transit and access community resources, such as libraries, schools, parks, grocery stores, and rec centers.

3. Ensure that major public investment in a new transportation system is set up to benefit as many Philadelphians as possible, particularly underserved communities.

4. Ensure that bike share represents the diversity of Philadelphia; all Philadelphians (over the age of 16) think “bike share is for people like me”
A few challenges....

ACCESS
Are there stations in my neighborhood?
Can I afford a membership?
Can I pay for a membership?
Do I know how to ride a bike?
Is the program described in my language or in plain English (~6th grade reading level)

CONVENIENCE
Can bike share take me where I need to go?
Is my commute a bike-able distance?

DESIRABILITY
Do I feel safe at stations and riding bikes?
Do I see my peers and role models using the system?
Did I feel included in the bike share outreach process?
Is biking a respected activity in my community?
Better Bike Share Partnership

Basics: 3 year grant funded by JPB Foundation, managed by Mayor’s Fund for Philadelphia

Goal: develop replicable, socially-equitable bike sharing model

National Efforts:

1. Assessment and dissemination of best practices (NACTO);

2. Challenge grant program, awarding $900,000 over three years (People for Bikes);

Letters of intent for Year 2 Funding due November 13; informational webinar and more at betterbikeshare.org
Better Bike Share Partnership, cont.

Philadelphia Efforts:

1. Station Planning
2. Research & Evaluation
3. Applying Research to Program Policies
4. Cash Payment Option
5. Education & Outreach
Site Planning & Engagement

20 stations funded specifically for lower-income neighborhoods... 19 in currently...

1. Presentations at as many public meetings as would have us;
2. Online, text-based, paper surveys, with efforts to bridge digital divide;
3. Site visits with community leaders.

Lessons learned... Be persistent, maximize face time, and capitalize on existing knowledge.
Pre-Launch Focus Groups

Participants were low-income Philadelphians living in the expected spring 2015 bike share service area. Key findings:

- Marketing materials must show economic, racial, gender, and body-type diversity;

- Value of bike share for exercise and for spending time with family and friends, not “just” for transportation;

- 1 hour trips;

- Participants willing to pay $15- $20 per month for bike share – main preference was “cheaper than SEPTA” (transit pass - $91/month);

Hop on and ride Indego! Here’s how it works:

1. Sign Up
2. Get a bike
3. Go for a ride
4. Return the bike

Cash Payment Option

Critical component of Bicycle Transit System’s efforts as a grant sub-recipient;

Indego has partnered with PayNearMe to use 7-Eleven and Family Dollar as cash payment locations;

Bridging the Digital Divide

- Partnerships with The Mayor’s Commission on Literacy and the KEYSPOT networks (public computer resources) to combine digital literacy and bike share learning;

Remaining challenge: how much more can we do without a storefront to sell passes directly?
Partnership with the Bicycle Coalition of Greater Philadelphia (BCGP) as Grant Sub-Recipient

People Power!
- 1 outreach manager
- 2 community liaisons
- 5 street team members
- 20 community ambassadors

Education Since Launch
- 6 classes
- 10+ group rides
- 40+ tabling events
- And more…
When I’ve been speaking with members of the Mexican community about bike share…

“…they say that it’s not expensive. You can try a month and if you don’t like it you can cancel. They also think the bike is very comfortable. They like the baskets and the lights. $.50 a day is nothing. A lot of people think it’s cheap.”

Most of the people in my community use it to get to work. I always say: you can use the bikes in many ways: exercise, going to Center City, to work…. Whatever you want. Just take a bike and ride.

We did a ride with a family. The kids had their own bikes but the parents didn’t, so they used Indego.”

Early reflections…

1. Grant-funded grant manager integral to success

2. Have partners do what they do best

3. Patience and preparation key to site planning efforts – avoiding the avoidable missteps

4. Need to continually document outcomes when testing new strategies

5. Keep learning and refining
