DELAWARE VALLEY REGIONAL PLANNING COMMISSION

REGIONAL DATA BULLETIN

2000 Census Profile by Minor Civil Division (28-County Data Services Area): Income and Poverty

No. 75
June 2003

The Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission (DVRPC) is an interstate, intercounty and intercity agency that provides comprehensive and coordinated planning for the orderly growth of the Delaware Valley region. As the region's metropolitan planning organization (MPO), the Commission provides technical assistance and services to its member state, county and local governments, the private sector and the public. Delaware Valley Data is our periodic series of free data bulletins and complementary analytical reports. This data bulletin contains information from Summary File 3 of Census 2000, issued by the United States Census Bureau in 2002. All information in this bulletin is compiled from the "long form" questionnaire filled out by a randomly selected sample of households responding to the 2000 Census of Population and Housing.

This bulletin includes municipal-level income and poverty data for DVRPC's extended 28-County Data Service Region. The Commission's extended data services area includes the Commission's nine member counties as well as 19 surrounding counties in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania (see map on page 10). Table 1 and Table 2 summarize the information included in this bulletin for the nine-county DVRPC region, while Table 3 and Table 4 provide regional and sub-regional totals. Table 5 and Table 6 provide income and poverty characteristics for each minor civil division in the 28-county extended data services area.

DEFINITIONS OF CENSUS VARIABLES: the Census Bureau defines the above population variables as follow:

Family: A family consists of a householder and one or more persons living in the same household who are related to the householder by birth, marriage or adoption. All persons in a household who are related to the householder are regarded as members of his or her family.

Family income: Family income includes the incomes of all members 15 years and older who are related to the householder.

Household: A household includes all the persons who occupy a housing unit. A housing unit is a house, an apartment, a mobile home, a group of rooms or a single room that is occupied (or, if vacant, is intended for occupancy) as separate living quarters. Separate living quarters are those in which the occupants live and eat separately from any other persons in the building and which have direct access from the outside of the building or through a common hall. The occupants may be a single family, one person living alone, two or more families living together, or a group of related or unrelated persons who share living arrangements. In 100-percent tabulations, the counts of households or householders always equal the number of occupied housing units.

Household income: Household income includes the income of the householder and all other individuals 15 years and older in the household, whether they are related to the householder or not. Because many households consist of only one person, average household income is usually less than average family income.

Income: Eight types of income are reported in the census: wage and salary income; self-employment income; interest, dividends and net rental income; Social Security income; Supplemental Social Security income; public assistance income, retirement income; and all other income. Income is reported for calendar year 1999.

Per capita income: Per capita income is the average income reported for every man, woman and child in a particular group, rounded to the nearest dollar.

Poverty status: Poverty status is determined by comparing the person's total family income with the poverty threshold for that person's family size and composition, as determined by a federal interagency committee. Poverty status in 1999 was determined using 48 thresholds (income cutoffs) arranged in a two-dimensional matrix, which consisted of family size cross-classified by presence and number of family members under 18. Unrelated persons and 2-person families were further differentiated by the age of the householder (under 65 years or 65 years and older). If the total income of the person's family was less than the threshold appropriate for that family, then the person was considered poor, together with every member of his or her family. Poverty status was determined for all people except institutionalized people, people in military group quarters, people in college dormitories, and unrelated individuals under 15 years of age.

- Birmingham Township, Delaware County, officially changed its name to Chadds Ford Township in January 1997.
- A dashed line (—) indicates that the information is not available.
- This data bulletin was created from the latest electronic files available from the Census Bureau and may include data which has been updated from previously published data bulletins.
