DELAWARE VALLEY REGIONAL PLANNING COMMISSION

REGIONAL DATA BULLETIN

2000 Census Profile by Minor Civil Division or Incorporated Place (28-County Data Services Area): Education

No. 76
July 2003

The Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission (DVRPC) is an interstate, intercounty and intercity agency that provides comprehensive and coordinated planning for the orderly growth of the Delaware Valley region. As the region's metropolitan planning organization (MPO), the Commission provides technical assistance and services to its member state, county and local governments, the private sector and the public. Delaware Valley Data is our periodic series of free data bulletins and complementary analytical reports. This data bulletin contains information from Summary File 3 of Census 2000, issued by the United States Census Bureau in 2002. All information in this bulletin is compiled from the "long form" questionnaire filled out by a randomly selected sample of households responding to the 2000 Census of Population and Housing.

This bulletin includes municipal-level data on educational attainment for DVRPC's extended 28-County data services area. The Commission's extended data services area includes the Commission's nine member counties as well as 19 surrounding counties in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania (see map on page 4). Table 1 summarizes the information included in this bulletin for the nine-county DVRPC region and calculates the percent of people over 25 years of age in each jurisdiction that have attained each level of education, while Table 2 provides county, regional and sub-regional totals. Table 3 provides information (by sex) on the highest education level attained by the residents of each minor civil division (MCD) in New Jersey and Pennsylvania (where MCD's serve as general-purpose local governments) and of incorporated places in Delaware and Maryland, located within counties included in the 28-county extended data services area.

DEFINITIONS OF CENSUS VARIABLES: the Census Bureau defines these population variables as follows:

Educational attainment: Data on educational attainment were derived from answers to long-form questionnaire Item 9, which was asked of a sample of the households responding to the 2000 Census. Data on attainment are tabulated for the population age 25 years and over as of April 1, 2000. People are classified according to the highest degree or level of school completed.

The order in which degrees were listed on the questionnaire suggested that doctorate degrees were "higher" than professional school degrees, which were "higher" than master's degrees. The question included instructions for people currently enrolled in school to report the level of the previous grade attended or the highest degree received. Respondents who did not report educational attainment or enrollment level were assigned the attainment of a person of the same age, race, Hispanic or Latino origin, occupation and sex, where possible, who resided in the same or a nearby area. Respondents who filled more than one box were edited to the highest level or degree reported.

High school graduates: "High school graduates" include people who have received a traditional high school diploma or the equivalent (for example, those who have passed a G.E.D., or Test of General Educational Development) and have not earned a higher degree.

Associate degree: The category "Associate degree" includes people whose highest degree is an associate degree, which generally requires 2 years of college level work and is either in an occupational program that prepares them for a specific occupation, or an academic program primarily in the arts and sciences. The course work may or may not be transferable to a bachelor's degree.

Advanced degrees: Advanced degrees include Master's degrees, professional school degrees, and Doctorate degrees. Master's degrees include the traditional MA and MS degrees as well as field-specific degrees, such as MSW, MEd, MBA, MLS, MURP, and Meng. Some examples of professional degrees include medicine, dentistry, chiropractic, optometry, osteopathic medicine, pharmacy, podiatry, veterinary medicine, law, and theology. Vocational and technical training such as barber school training; business, trade, technical, and vocational schools; or other training for a specific trade, are specifically excluded.

NOTES:

- New Morgan Borough was formed from portions of Robeson and Caernavon townships in Berks County, Pennsylvania.
- Birmingham Township, Delaware County, officially changed its name to Chadds Ford Township in January 1997.
- A dashed line (—) indicates that the information is not available.
- This data bulletin was created from the latest electronic files available from the Census Bureau and may include data which has been updated from previously published data bulletins.
